in certain embodiments, each ligand is selected to have an affinity for at least one type of receptor on a target cell.

in this eighth edition of breast cancer month, i encourage everyone to wear the pink ribbon or the lapel pin that symbolizes hope, and ultimately victory, over this disease.

so i quickly packed up the tent (i put the different parts into ikea bags (which are made of tarps) and strung everything out in the car to dry out during the day.

and he figured out that, since the introduction of the rolled latex condom in the 1920s, not much about condoms had changed.

of market stress. i just couldn’t depart your website before suggesting that i actually loved the